ONE THING FOR SURE about this column, which has appeared regularly in the same location on the front page for more years than we care to enumerate, is that it is right in the line of fire, so to speak.

The contents may not be of any great shakes but the column itself makes a dandy target for darts of one sort or another, regardless.

And that really is a good thing.

Its conspicuous location, one might say, acts as a deterrent for us getting too smug, careless or ungrammatical.

We mean one can't just go out and dangle a few participles indiscriminately. You have to proceed with caution in that or in other similar fields pertaining to word usage.

Admittedly, one has (or takes) quite a bit more latitude in writing these gems than, say, an essay in school.

But, hopefully, we try to keep within reasonable bounds in the use of words, in grammatical construction, in spelling and in punctuation.

Although we take some pride in our basic grammatical knowledge, even if our output doesn't always show it, obviously, we miss at times.

Unintentionally, of course.

NOW, YOU TAKE A RECENT note we received from a reader of this column.

The writer of the note, Mark Lawshe, advertising manager for Orchard Supply Hardware, took exception to the manner in which we used the word "comprise" in a sentence in "Out-on-the-Limb" in the progress edition.

And, you know, the guy was absolutely right. Almost.

Lawshe submitted as the definition of "comprise".... "1. To comprehend or include. 2. To consist or be made up of."

Then he added.."The community comprises its residents, not vice versa."....

The sentence structure that he had questioned went like this; ...."achievements of the community and the people who comprise it"....

According to Lawshe (and the dictionary), we were all wet.

Actually the guy was right.

It was lousy usage of the King's English.

Y'know, we had to hunt through about three unabridged dictionaries before we could find a definition that permitted (we hope) using "comprise" as we did.

This is the one we found that sorta got us off the hook and, admittedly, it was buried–..."3) to form or constitute..."

Now, if you stretch a point or two, we maybe could sneak by on that definition in our usage of "comprise".

But it was not good.

And we stand corrected.

A LONG TIME AGO, AFTER having failed penmanship year after year, we found out that, if we expected anyone to read what we had written, it had to be typed. (We were in college by that time.)

Our scrawling hasn't improved over the years.

Even when we "print" with a pen or pencil, the results are subject to misinterpretation.

Take as a f'instance:

Last week we helped out by taking down a help wanted classified ad that was being phoned in by a party who needed a "woman head cook" and a "head salad lady".

We printed it all out.

Then we turned it over to Erlene while the guy was still on the phone so she could complete all the details.

She read it back to the party.

Our printing was ok, except for the last line...

The ad read: ..."Very good positions for the RIGHT ladies..."

Citizens participate in civic beautification

Arbor Day in Campbell on March 7 was an outstanding example of citizen participation in a civic project with 200 taking part in a work-day at the new Fire Station No. 2.

Pictorially recorded by The Campbell Press, the accompanying pictures reveal how representatives of various civic groups got into the act in the planting of 300 trees and bushes.

Efforts were directed by Mrs. Jeanette Watson, of the beautification committee with landscaping plans furnished by George Kikuchi of Cambrian Nursery.

Equipment and supplies were donated by Tool Shed Rental, U-Save Rockery and Campbell Lumber.

Theater act plays again on March 23

After two hours of discussion and reviews, the City Council last week deferred action until Monday, March 23, on the long-standing Winchester Drive-In Theater problem, in order to determine whether multiple-ownership of the theater property could affect the question of access to it.

The deferment came long past midnight and after the Council had closed the hearing on the first of three appeals of Syufy Enterprises, operators of the theater, that were before them. The motion to defer also specified that the hearing would be reopened on March 23.

During the marathon session, the Council had only discussed the first appeal. That concerned the conditions that the Planning Commission had attached to the approval of the plans for an apartment complex on the six-acre virtually landlocked parcel adjoining the theater.

The Planning Commission had specified that the applicant had to provide satisfac-

FILES FOR ASSESSOR--Dale Scott, 32, of 264 Radford Dr., Campbell, made it "official" this week when he announced that he was filing for the office of County Assessor.

Scott, vice-chairman of the Campbell Planning Commission and a director of the Campbell Community Hospital, recently resigned as executive director of the Santa Clara County Taxpayers Association, a position he has held for the past eight years.

Scott, a graduate of San Jose State, and his wife, Sharon, have both been active in community affairs. They are the parents of two young sons.

Youths schedule first conference

Sponsored by Campbell's Youth Advisory Commission, the first all-city Youth Conference in the history of this community will be held on Saturday, March 21, at Del Mar High School.

Assemblyman John Vasconcellos (D-Campbell), of the 24th Assembly District, will be the keynote speaker at the conference.

The conference, open to all youth of the city and surrounding area, will run from 8:45 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mayor Homer Hyde will open the morning session.

Conference planners, headed by Walter Hitch, of Campbell High, as coordinator, are hoping to have 300 youths not restricted to any age group, in attendance.

Registration will be followed by students presenting a skit, which theme will dramatize the role of young people in government. The Youth Advisory Commission will refer recommendations that develop from the conference to the Campbell City Council.

Pre-registration forms can be obtained at the city manager's office at the city hall, 75 N. Central Ave. until March 16.

Groups of 15 will meet in discussion groups until the lunch break. Vasconcellos will speak at the assembly at 1 p.m.

City grants second TV cable franchise

An ordinance granting a second cable television franchise for the City of Campbell was given the first reading at the last meeting of the City Council by split 3-2 vote.

The ordinance is scheduled to be adopted at the March 23 meeting, provided the same vote holds.

The vote on the granting of the franchise to Santa Clara County Cable TV came after more than two hours of discussion at a public hearing.

Councilman Ed Rogers and Mayor Homer Hyde voted against the second franchise with Councilmen Bill Smeed, Dean Chamberlin and Ralph Doetsch favoring it.

Opposing the second franchise were representatives of San Jose CATV, the firm that

THE SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME?--William Christiansen, Thomas L. Dashich, Jr., Jim Christiansen, Steven Weaver and Vicki Dorcich, wearing assorted gas masks and filters, participated Monday morning in the Rolling Hills School "Save Our Selves" week.

During the week the entire student body will be dramatizing the shape of the world to come if air, water and ground pollution are not controlled. As part of the Monday events, a sealed time capsule containing samples of air, water, soil and a Campbell Press Progress Edition, was buried, to be exhumed 10 years from now. On Tuesday, trees were planted, students walked to school and picked up litter which had started to pile up.

Editorial

Posion Prevention

We have learned from the Santa Clara County Pharmaceutical Association that National Poison Prevention Week is March 15-21.

The Association has suggested an editorial on the subject and listed some salient facts to back up the suggestion. It is a good suggestion.

For example, it has been pointed out that in listing the number of people who are victims of or die from various diseases, or in automobile accidents, it is often overlooked that accidental poisoning will claim 500,000 children as victims this year and more than 500 of them will die.

The point the pharmacists make is that the real tragedy is that 95 per cent of all accidental poisonings are preventable. Carelessness is the real villain.

The majority of accidental poisonings involve children under five years of age who, of course, are dependent on adults for their safety and security.

Household poisonings are also on the rise, it is explained, because of chemical progress which has now provided 250,000 household products to make life easier.

Unfortunately, these 250,000 products are potentially dangerous poisons which unsuspecting children will try to swallow, if they get the opportunity.

Drugs created to cure can also be a major cause of accidental poisoning for both adults and children; and all because of carelessness, again,

During National Poison Prevention week, local pharmacists are joining with pharmacists across the country in a concerted campaign to alert all parents, all adults, to the ever-present hazards of accidental poisoning in the home.

We think it is a commendable undertaking and it is a good time for all of us to learn about the dangers that lurk in every home, as far as accidental poisoning is concerned.

It would be wise to learn also how to poison-proof one's home and what to do if such emergencies occur.

Carelessness is more dangerous and probably more difficult to correct than any disease. However, the the fact remains that when 500,000 children are affected in one year by accidental poisoning, the situation is serious.

So, during National Poison Prevention Week (March 15-21) take a good look around your house.

Pollution problems

We are well aware that environmental problems involving pollution of one kind or another can not be considered a purely local matter.

Air pollution (smog), for example, does not recognize city, county or state boundaries.

And the same applies to water pollution.

On the other hand, it is at the grass roots level where action can begin to combat the various facets of environmental pollution.

Campbell Citizens for Beautification has initiated such action by asking the City Council to become more cognizant of environmental problems.

The beautification committee by unanimous vote adopted a motion to notify the City Council that there is a need to become aware of the environmental problems on a local level.

The committee has suggested that there are educational programs available and that there are specific actions that the City can take in encouraging legislation in this field.

The committee has also suggested that the City undertake a concrete program which would explore the environmental pollution problems.

This is a commendable move on the part of the Campbell Citizens for Beautification. We are certain that the City Council will explore the matter to the fullest.

But this should only be the beginning.

Admittedly the adoption of a City of Campbell ordinance is not going to have any effect on smog.

As a matter of fact, there is probably no need for legislation on a local level at all, except to endorse the grass roots movement.

What is needed, of course, is for citizens to rally here and in the next community and the next and the next against the entire pollution menace.

The official action by the Citizens for Beautification emphasizes that the people are aware of the problem so let's see if something can be done about it.

Even on a local level.

LAST WEEK'S COLUMN had considerable verbiage concerning smog, as some of you might recall.

Based on information released by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, we learned, much to our surprise, that SMOG was not increasing in the area.

Remember, we reported this quote from the BAAPCD: "...As a result, the public perceives air pollution for the first time and in the people's minds it simply didn't exist before it was perceived."

Maybe all of us are just now getting around to "perceiving" smog but the fact remains that it is here.

And people are getting concerned about what the future holds.

A number of people mentioned that our so-called smog column had set them thinking about this whole ecology bit which has come into such prominence recently.

They wondered just what one person, or a few, could do about it.

Or what even one city like Campbell could do, for that matter.

Just passing an ordinance, for example, won't keep either the air or water from being polluted.

Brent Ulrich, the top man in the back shop at our joint, suggested that maybe we could get involved as a community in this bumper strip idea that is proving so popular. (There seems to be bumper strips about everything.)

Brent suggested that The Press might sponsor a contest to pick the best slogan to go on a special smog-oriented bumper strip that would be sort of Campbell's own.

Brent, as an avid horseman, just happened to have a bumper strip on hand that illustrated what he meant. Maybe you have seen it:

("Fight SMOG -- Buy Horses".)

The idea just may have possibilities.

What do you think?

Of course, it might not cut down on the smog, but it could get people to "perceive" a little more.

If you think it is worth a try, let us know.

HOW MANY TIMES DOES the average person ever see a police officer pull a gun?

Or, for that matter, how often have the Campbell officers had the occasion to use their guns or even pull 'em?

Fortunately, it has not been very often. (We asked Police Chief John Morgan that question one time and he estimated about three times in all his years in Campbell. And he had to rack his brain like mad to recall the times.)

Even more unusual is it when a motorcycle officer advances with gun in hand on a motorist he has stopped.

We saw that happen in town recently.

As far as we can recall, it was the first time that we had ever seen it happen. It seemed so out of character because one associates a city motorcycle cop with such mundane activities as writing up parking tickets, directing traffic or citing little old ladies for going through stop signs.

We happened to be driving on Campbell Ave. just as Officer Don Dore had pulled a pickup to a stop near Union Ave.

We observed Don advancing with his gun in his hand on the driver who had just stepped out of the vehicle.

Another car had pulled up behind Don's bike and two guys in civilian clothes were also walking toward the pickup behind Don.

We gawked but didn't stop. Our curiosity, naturally, was aroused.

So Don filled us in later.

Two county deputies in plainclothes and in an unmarked car had been on a "stake-out" and wanted the guy in the pickup stopped. They called Campbell police on the radio. Don on his bike happened to be the closest Campbell unit at the time.

He only had to make a U-turn and there the pickup was and he stopped it.

The deputies had warned that the party was probably armed.

Hence the pulled gun. (There was a rifle in the car.)

Don wasn't taking any chances.

He admits, of course, it was not his usual approach on an errant motorist.

tory access to the apartment complex at no cost to the city.

Access to the property from Union Ave. as suggested on the map cannot be obtained, the applicants have claimed, as the owners of the property are not willing to make it available.

Councilman Ed Rogers, however, maintained that access was possible across the present theater from the entrance at Westchester and McGlincey. He admitted it would not be "ideal" but was "possible" and he wondered why the Planning Commission had considered it.

His motion, however, to send the matter back to the Planning Commission to explore this possibility, seconded by Mayor Homer Hyde, was defeated 3-2. In voting it down, the three councilmen indicated that the Council had to settle the issue once and for all... They quoted the famous old Truman saying of "the buck stops here" and the matter had been pending long enough.

Rogers had previously moved that the appeal be denied (also seconded by Hyde) but that motion was withdrawn.

After Rogers' motion was defeated, the issue was raised that the theater property was under three ownerships and it was not known whether all the owners would agree to allow access to the proposed apartments across the present theater.

Following that new angle, the Council then passed a motion by Dean Chamberlin by a 4-1 vote (Bill Smeed voting no) reopening the hearing and continuing it to March 23. The staff was directed to determine how multiple-ownership affected the problem before the next meeting.

The motion also included the specification that Fred Sahadi, co-owner of the mobile home park next to the theater, should be contacted to determine definitely whether he would allow the proposed apartment development to use the present 40-foot access from Union to the mobile homes.

Until the problem of the apartments is settled, the Council will not act on the other two appeals from Planning Commission rulings: (1) a zone change request that will permit a drive-in theater in the landlocked six acres and (2) a use permit for a third screen.

Paul Limerick, spokesman for the residents of the mobile home park, who are objecting to any expansion of the theater, pleaded with the Council to separate the appeals.

Highway patrol adds specialists

A dozen automotive specialists have been added to California Highway Patrol passenger vehicle inspection teams in areas of heavy air pollution in a major effort to beef up smog control activities in Southern California, according to CHP Commissioner H. W. Sullivan.

The new civilian employees of the Patrol are experts in exhaust systems and smog control devices, having had a minimum of three years of full-time automotive mechanical repair and major tune-up experience. They will work side by side with uniformed traffic officers on five-man teams assigned to 12 target areas in the battle against air pollution.

"The addition of automotive specialists to the PVI teams has two major advantages," Commissioner Sullivan said. "First, we're strengthening the teams with smog device specialists in areas that need it most – Los Angeles County and the metropolitan areas of Riverside-San Bernardino and San Diego.

"Second, the addition of civilian employees to the PVI teams releases highly trained officers for highway patrol duty.

Cable TV

has held a franchise locally for almost three years. They emphasized the magnitude of the operation and the preparation that has to go into it before any installation can be started.

To further emphasize that San Jose CATV was "ready to go", the cable firm had parked more than 20 of its vehicles around the City Hall with the drivers present in the audience.

John Morrisy, engineer for Collins Radio of Dallas, Texas, told the Council that the San Jose CATV firm's application to the FCC was the first for a cable system "of this magnitude".

He explained that microwave stations at Almaden and Black Mountain had been completed and a third station at Monument Park was under construction. He added that the final grant of the FCC license did not come until last November.

Representatives of the San Jose firm added also that the installation of cables in Campbell would begin in August.

John M. Chargin, a San Jose attorney and a former mayor of Campbell, represented the Santa Clara County Cable TV that was asking for the second franchise.

Chargin argued that competition in the field would be beneficial to the city and its residents and that his firm was ready to meet the challenge offered by the original TV cable firm.

Councilman Rogers, in voting against the granting of the second franchise, indicated that he desired more information from localities that had faced a similar situation in which a city had two such franchises.

Chargin, in his final argument, pointed out that his firm was installing a system in Saratoga and Monte Sereno and that it could be into Campbell within 90 days.

Details as to how the two firms can operate efficiently or effectively in town will probably have to be worked out by city staff personnel, it was pointed out.

Planners again face S. Bascom zoning Monday

Next Monday, March 16, the Planning Commission is scheduled to make another stab at resolving the vexing pre-annexation problem involving "The Yardstick", and other properties on S. Bascom, Apricot and El Solyo.

But unlike the previous hearings on the zoning issue, the Commission Monday will be able to talk about three possible types of zoning for the area. In the prior sessions the Commission was limited to discussions on C-2-S (medium commercial).

Because the hearing was continued there was time to add C-1 and P-O (Professional Office) to the hearing.

Residents in the area have protested the proposed C-2-S as being too heavy for the area and maintained that "The Yardstick" operation, because of its heavy business, was creating a nuisance for the area.

The recommendation of the Planning Commission will be submitted for approval to the City Council which then must also act on the annexation itself.

Residents in the area have indicated that they will also protest the annexation.

Plans for two industrial buildings (R. V. Cloud on Hacienda and Vanderson Construction Co. on Dell) will be before the Commission for approval next Monday.

Also up for approval will be plans for a 192-unit apartment complex by Guild West at Valley Forge and Millich.

Two requests for use permits for industrial buildings (both on Dillon Ave.) that are before the Commission will probably be continued until the City Council has acted on whether the interim zoning of the Gilman-Dillon-Railway area is to remain in effect.

The interim zoning for the area in effect for a year expired on March 10, But the City Council has placed a moratorium on building in the area until the meeting of March 23.

At that meeting the Council is expected to decide whether to let the area revert to its M-1-S (industrial) status or continue the interim zoning which was placed on it to gain time to explore the possibility of zoning the area for low-cost housing development.

Pink white wedding unites couple

MR. AND MRS. MATHEW PICKETT, JR.

Pink and white were the colors chosen by Marie J. Cramer for her Valentine's Day wedding to Mathew Norman Pickett, Jr.

The wedding was held in The Lutheran Church of Our Savior in San Jose with the double ring ceremony being conducted by Pastor Polster.

A soft pink floor length chiffon gown was chosen by the bride, styled with a soft drape train attached with a back bow. A pink bow and pearls held the net veiling and she carried a white carnation and pink baby rose bouquet.

The new Mrs. Pickett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Vlasich of 259 Carlyn Ave. She attended Campbell schools and was graduated from Campbell High School and San Jose State College. She is presently employed as office manager for the brokerage firm of Glore, Forgan, Staat, Inc.

Mrs. Jeanette Hendricks, in the role of matron of honor, wore a shocking pink floor length gown and carried a pink carnation and pink baby rose bouquet.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Vlasich chose a powder blue beaded knit with navy blue accessories accented with an orchid corsage.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Norman Pickett of Solvang, Calif. He is employed as a stockbroker at the brokerage firm. He is a graduate of Fresno State College and is serving as a volunteer of the Campbell Fire Department and is a member of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

His mother wore a white two-piece brocade dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Attending Mathew as best man was Tony Atenci of Sacramento. Ushering were Jim Cramer, John Cramer and Don Cramer.

Following the wedding ceremony a champagne luncheon was held at Mariani's restaurant where the three-tiered wedding cake with pink roses and pink wedding bells was served to the 120 guests.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Pickett are now making their home at 390 Lawndale Ave. following their wedding trip to Southern California. For her going-away ensemble Mrs. Pickett wore a powder blue two-piece knit with navy blue accessories.

WSCS hears foreign student panel discussion

A panel discussion on student conditions in other countries will be the highlight of the March 12 general meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First United Methodist Church of Campbell.

On the 10 a.m. program will be three students from foreign countries who are presently attending Campbell High School District schools for the year as exchange students. In Campbell, under the auspices of the Youth for Understanding Exchange program are Marjoke Piek from Holland and Vetle Rohde from Norway while Selma Sindram from Holland is attending school under the International Christian Youth Exchange program at the First United Methodist Church of Campbell.

All three students are seniors with Selma and Vetle attending Campbell High and Marjoke at Del Mar.

A comparison discussion of student conditions in their homelands as compared with the conditions in Campbell and Santa Clara County will prove to be a very interesting and eventful meeting.

Following the discussion period luncheon will be served in the Fellowship Hall at 12:15 p.m. by the Mustard Circle.

ALL SCHOOL PLAY---Prospect High students in practice session for "Thieves Carnival" scheduled to run this weekend. Above, l. to r., are Lord Edgard played by Steve Gray; Lady Hurf, played by Liz Rao; Tom Antinelli as the musician and Laura Aronson in the role of Juliette.

"Thieves Carnival" starts at Prospect High Thursday night

Thursday, March 12 is opening night for Prospect's second annual all school play. This year Miss Carol Long, director, has chosen a comedy written by French playwright Jean Anouilh. Called "Thieves' Carnival", it is about two groups of thieves who are after the same prize: money and jewels.

Ticket prices for the play, which runs Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. are $1 for students with an A.S.B. card, and $1.50 for adults. The play is being presented in the cafetorium at Prospect, located at Prospect Road and Lawrence Expressway. Tickets will be sold at the door.

In the story, Lady Hurf (played by Liz Rao) is a rich, bored old lady who lives in Vichy, France, with her cousin Lord Edgard (Steve Gray) and two beautiful nieces, Eva (Kathie Browne) and Juliette (Laura Aronson).

One group of thieves, Peterbono (Steve Yaste), Hector (Ed Cotter), and Gustave (Howie Demere) impersonate old friends of Lady Hurf's in order to gain entry into her house.

The other thieves are Dupont-Dufort Sr. and Dupont-Dufort Jr. (Mark Menicucci and Wally Gilbert). They hope to marry Eva and Juliette to get their money.

Trouble enters the comedy when Gustave and Juliette fall in love, and Lord Edgard accuses Peterbono of being an imposter. In spite of this, there is a happy ending.

Proceeds from the play will be used to buy lights and other needed equipment for the stage.

Campbell Corners

Operation Brush-In zeroed in on the Campbell campus last Wednesday and involved over 503 students in the brushing exercise.

Operation Brush-In is a program sponsored by the Santa Clara County Dental Research Foundation and the Santa Clara County Health Department in an effort to stop tooth decay among school age children in the Santa Clara County.

The students were instructed in the brushing of their teeth using the paste which contained stanous fluoride and zirconium silicate. The fluoride is the same as is used in most toothpaste only it is a concentrated form. It is effective in stopping tooth decay. The zirconium silicate is an effective cleaning and polishing material. Neither one of these substances can be purchased over the counter.

Full benefits of this program are obtained by applying the paste once a year.

This Friday night, March 13, at 5 p.m. the Ski Club will take off on another one of their weekend trips. This weekend the club will be staying at Lakeview Arms, Southlake Tahoe.

You've probably seen the red and blue little house in the corner of the student parking lot and maybe you didn't know what it was for. Well, it is the paper bin for the papers everyone is asked to bring for the PTA sponsored paper drive. It is another fund raising project for the PTA and wide participation will be appreciated.

Also concerning the PTA, there will be a meeting tonight at 7:30. At this meeting there will be a panel of students from Campbell who will be there to discuss and answer questions such as "What are teenagers' goals these days?" and "Where can their identity be found?" and any other questions presented. Here is a chance for parents and faculty to ask the questions they may be wanting an answer for. It will be building another bridge in the generation gap and a large turnout is hoped for.

The PTA is also busy organizing Campbell's first annual "Flea Market" to be held Sunday, April 12. Space reservation forms may be obtained at the school.

Last Tuesday was a victorious day for Coach De Grazia's swim team as the varsity outswam Gilroy's team, 67 to 27. Pete Hovland was the only varsity swimmer winning two firsts and he received these in the 200 yard freestyle and the 100 yard backstroke.

The Soph-frosh came through too, winning the meet 71 to 14. There were two double first place winners in the soph-frosh group and they were Mark Pearson in the 200 freestyle and the 100 freestyle, and Pat Rodda, in the 100 individual medley and the 50 butterfly.

Their next meet will be against Branham at Campbell at 3:30 p.m. Friday.

In last Friday's track meet against Menlo Atherton and Oak Grove, the varsity scores ran as follows, Menlo-Atherton 78½, Campbell 58½, and Oak Grove 35. The frosh-soph walked away with 74½ points compared to Oak Grove's 38½ and Menlo - Atherton's 36 points.

Some of Campbell's outstanding team members were Rob Anderson who ran the 440 in 52.4; Scott Skillman who ran the low hurdles in 21.1, and the 220 in 23.5; Richard Perry who jumped 5'11" in the high jump and Sam Lobue who did 22.1 in the long jump. The group also included Jim Royer who heaved the shotput 47'8" and the discus 163'10".

Campbell also took first in the mile relay. Our time was 3 minutes and 37.9 seconds.

Prospect Pulse

by IVALEE INGRAHAM

Spring sports have started at Prospect. This week the swimming and diving team will meet Camden at Camden's pool on Friday at 3:30 p.m. Prospect's Track and Field team hosts Los Gatos at the field at 3:30, also on Friday.

Two Prospect students represented the Panthers at the California State Honor Band performance at City College in Riverside. Lyn Davy and Linda Anderson, both juniors, qualified for the band by auditioning on tapes. The judges selected them on playing ability.

The weekend of Washington's birthday the girls flew down to Riverside, where they lived in private homes for the weekend. Friday morning tryouts were held to determine the placement of students in the band.

There were two bands, a Symphonic band and a Concert band. Linda made 2nd chair flute in the Symphonic band and Lyn won 1st chair oboe in the Concert band. Rehearsals were held Friday until 9 p.m. at night, and all day Saturday.

Saturday night the students were guests at a dance with a live band. Sunday there was a performance at 2 p.m. After a visit to Knott's Berry Farm, the exhausted girls flew home to Saratoga. Both say they had a lot of fun, and a wonderful experience.

NEIGHBORHOOD 17

Brownie Scout Troop No. 761, from Hamilton School, put the "out" in scouting last week by holding a Thinking Day Ceremony at Vasona Lake Park. Twenty-nine Junior Scouts from their sister Troop No. 861 took part in the combination Fly-up-Investiture proceedure by acting as color guard for the group.

Thinking Day if a day set aside by Girl Scouts and Girl Guides all over the world to contemplate the importance of working toward International Friendship.

Each Brownie was asked to choose a flag from a foreign land, think about the Girl Guide in that country and post the flag in a banner rack. She was then given a World Association pin as a symbol of participation toward this goal of "thought friendship."

Members of Troop No. 761 are Heidi Austring, Traci Beech, Sarah Bergman, Julie Blaisdell, Denise Bright, Gail Brose, Trudy Brown, Patricia Elsey, Robin Frazier, Lora Gillis, Cindy Gonzales, Brenda Green, Teresa Harpold, Diane Heisinger, Karen Hermle.

Carla Hickenbottom, Debbie and Kimberley Johnson, Sherry Keltner, Carol Mason, Barbara McGrew, Christiana Mouser, Diane Nash, Crickett Parrish, Diane Phillips, Karen Ponce, Christine Randazzo, Mary Riley, Lisa Rinauro, Darlene and Lorraine Roybal, Cathlyn Stephenson, Tammy Tillotson, Pamela Toney and Karen Waller. Leaders are Mrs. Raymond Gonzales, Mrs. Jackie Green and Mrs. Tom Flanagan.

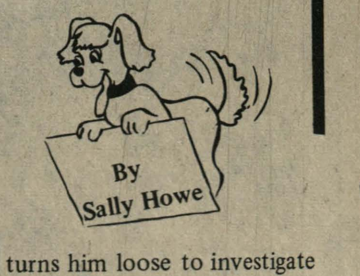
Bringing up fido



Housebreaking the new puppy can be a chore for the person who has never had a dog, or for the family who only remembers "Ole Spot" who was 16 when he went to dog-heaven and never soiled a rug in his life.

Many of the calls I get asking for help with housebreaking come just a little late.

The happy family brings home their new puppy and turns him loose to investigate the entire premises.

The result is, that the puppy, just as excited as they are, immediately finds that the shaggy livingroom rug is just the spot to try out first.

The family then panics, throws the puppy outside, scolds him repeatedly and is, in general, upset about the whole thing (mother, in particular).

This needn't happen.

First, think of your puppy as a toddler who has to be patiently taught what his limits are and what is expected of him.

The best way to housebreak a puppy is to never let an accident happen. This takes a little planning.

First, buy a crate (or rent one, borrow one, or build one).

Oh, you say, horrified, I could never confine that poor baby to a little box.

Okay, then you can never complain about the spots on your rug.

A dog doesn't mind being confined. Confinement, especially in a household with small children, can mean security for the dog.

Even if he's an outside dog, with a bed in the garage, let that bed confine him. It could be a playpen or a barricaded section, but GIVE HIM LIMITS.

Seldom will a pup over ten weeks soil his own bed if he is let out at regular intervals.

Like a human baby, the puppy does not have the capacity to wait for long periods, but like the human, he builds up his capacity.

Many puppies will easily night-break themselves by the time they are this age. However, when they wake up in the morning and make puppy noises, they mean NOW and not 20 minutes from now.

The puppy must go from his crate to the out-of-doors without a chance to be petted by Junior, get a drink or pass an inviting bit of newspaper. (Carrying him is the easiest.)

The person who is responsible for his care goes outside with him and when the job is done, heaps praise on the little guy for his performance.

If he does soil his bed, (which should be a heavy pad of newspapers to start with) don't scold him. He is just as disgusted as you are. Continue the pattern of letting him out and he will quickly catch on.

It's seldom wise to do much scolding UNLESS you catch him in the act. Then confine it to a verbal tongue-lashing.

More next week.

FUTURE PLANS--Jim Hurley, left, president of the Bishop O'Dowd K of C corporation, points out plans for the future Bishop O'Dowd hall. Looking on is Irwin Pasternak, Grand Knight of the council.

K of C celebrates 18th anniversary recently

Bishop O'Dowd Knights of Columbus Council No. 3474 of Campbell-Los Gatos celebrated their 18th anniversary as a council recently with a dinner-dance held at St. Michael the Archangel Church hall in Saratoga. The evening's events included a cocktail hour, followed by dinner, a short program and dancing to the Mike Conji trio.

Event chairman, Deputy Grand Knight Fred Baker, acted as MC for the program which included a historical presentation by past grand knight James Kilkenny of the council's highlights during its 18 years since chartering.

Presentation of a gavel to Dick Bowen in recognition of his term as grand knight of the council during the 1959-60 year, was also a feature of the program as was "Knight of the Month" awards to Gerry Nadler, Ralph Wimer and Pete Pierron in recognition of valuable service contributions to the council. Grand Knight Irwin Pasternak made the award presentations.

At the dinner-dance Jim Hurley, building corporation president, unveiled plans for a future council center to be located in Campbell. Construction is tentatively scheduled for 1971. The council disposed of its former hall two years ago and is presently housed in a leased hall on Wedgewood Drive.

Assisting Baker with the program were Jim Scotten and Tony Ferrente.

Limited to 42 students, the course will delve into the history, philosophy and practice of art in various attractions of the four countries. According to Ken Orrett, West Valley College art professor, the course will be geared to getting at the students' feelings about what's happening to them at each of the locations. "The facts on this trip will be incidental to the student's experiences," he explained.

The historical and philosophical studies of the Gothic period, Romanesque period, Roman art, Christian art and Greek fifth century art will be followed by the creative expression stressing how the individual feels about Chartres, the Colosseum, the Acropolis and the other art monuments to be visited.

The course is being offered by West Valley through the World Academy and any college student may take the course for either 3 or 6 units, transferable as elective units toward graduation at state colleges and universities.

Choirs produce inspired music

Combined St. Lawrence Episcopal and Campbell Congregational members enjoyed a rare treat Sunday when the two church choirs under the direction of Roger Kingman produced a magnificent rendition of The Resurrection by James A. Dasher.

Solo parts were sung by Paul Cocking, Rita Field, Arthur Maxwell and Nadine Patterson. Accompaniment included organ, piano, string quartette and tympani. Tape recordings were made and requests of copies are being accommodated by Kingman. The professional quality of the presentation has led to inquiries as to the possibility of the production being presented to larger audiences.

This is the third year the combined choirs have worked together and each year has seen the quality improving. Possible bookings by the West Valley College for the next production are being considered.

But Mikan finally got to play for DePaul University and he became a super star as a pro with the Lakers . . . Then he won the voting for the best basketball player in America for the years of 1900-1950 . . .

Miss Arends wed in Colorado

Evelyn Marie Arends, former Campbell resident now living in Boulder, Colorado, became the bride of Michael Milot January 15 at a ceremony held at the St. Aidan's Episcopal Church in that city.

Preceding the wedding couple down the aisle were the five young Navajo children Evelyn had assumed legal responsibility for prior to her marriage. A sociology major at University of Colorado, Evelyn had become interested in the five children while she was working as a volunteer at the Mesa Vista Sanatorium where the children were being treated for tuberculosis, two years ago.

Since that time Evelyn had assumed the responsibility for the children while still attending school and has established "her family" in a home of their own.

She met her husband, Mike, through his work with the children and his school studies.

Evelyn was also attended by her twin sister, Gretchen. The sisters are the daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. James B. Arends, of Campbell. She was given in marriage by her uncle, Rudy Golden, of Campbell.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Milot plan to continue their studies at the University and be mother and father to the five young children. Mrs. Milot attended Campbell schools and Campbell High School. Mike is a graduate of San Rafael schools.

A READY-MADE FAMILY-- Mr. and Mrs. Michael Milot with their bridal attendants, Pam, Peggy, Jimmy, Gary and Leonard Raphaelito. The five youngsters were unofficially adopted by the former Miss Evelyn Arends prior to her marriage.

Letters to the Editor

Campbell Press:

The students, teachers and I would like to express our appreciation to the Campbell Press and their staff for the fine Progress Edition which was published.

The Progress Edition was an example of how a total community must move together and that the schools and the children are a vital part of the team.

Thank you for your interest and continued support.

Dear George:

I wanted to express my appreciation to you for the publicity given our school in your recent editions and for the continuing fine job you do in supporting our schools. I feel that the community of Campbell is really progressing, and we are fortunate to have your newspaper as a part of the total community picture.

Enclosed you will find Moorpark School's two-year subscription ($7.00) to the Campbell Press. Keep up the good work.

Sincerely,
David C. Gillies
principal
Moorpark School

Dear George:

I somehow have lost my faith in us, the leaders of our Campbell Community. On Wednesday, Feb. 11, 1970 at approximately 6:50 p.m., I went over to West Valley College to pick up a book for a class I am taking this semester. After driving around for awhile and not being able to find a parking place, I pulled my car into the Campbell Center parking lot. So that I would not put any of the shoppers out, I parked away from the stores over in the far southeast corner along the dirt lot which was once a Shell Service station.

Incidentally, this is a shopping plaza at which my wife and I frequently shop because it contains many fine stores such as Laurel Variety, Black Knight pizza, Campbell Drugs, etc.

A little over a half hour later I returned to find my car gone. After questioning many people I finally was told to call the Cal Towing Garage located at 405 West St. John in downtown San Jose. A rather disgruntled lady informed me that I had parked my car at 6:50 p.m. and I was seen leaving the parking lot by a spotter, hired by some fathom organization called the "Merchant's Association".

As a result my car was, I feel, unlawfully entered and towed away at 7:08 p.m. I felt like a criminal.

I then called the Campbell Police Department and talked to a lady who assured me it was alright for this vulture operation (a combination of this Merchant's Organization and Cal's Towing Garage from San Jose) to operate in Campbell.

Since I was using the telephone in the Black Knight Pizza I talked to a bearded gentleman behind the counter and was told that he was having problems also. In fact he mentioned that this same group had almost towed away his cook's car the night before.

This same gentleman told me that a Sergeant Wallace of the Campbell Police Department doubted the legality of what was going on and suggested that the victims file charges with Mr. George Hesse of the District Attorney's Office.

I then preceded to take a long walk home. Next I inconvenienced one of my fine Campbell neighbors to drive me into downtown San Jose to bail out my car.

After talking to the same disgruntled lady at Cal's Towing Garage, that I had telephoned earlier, I was told I must pay the absurd price of $32.50 in order to have my car returned to me. Twenty-five dollars was for towing; five dollars was because they had to break into it and two dollars and fifty cents was for storage.

When I got to my car I found that the back bumper was pushed in because the car was hoisted up from the rear and dragged approximately ten miles on the front wheels.

After an estimate of damages I have learned it will cost me $23.00 to restore the bumper and $17.00 for a front end alignment. When I pointed out the damaged bumper to the man who towed my car, he told me I probably hit something that caused my bumper to be pushed in.

I thought of taking Cal Towing to court to force them to pay my damages but I've learned that this vulture organization does not have to pay for their damages because they are sly enough to lease all their trucks and equipment thus having no assets which are attachable.

As an active and interested member in many Campbell organizations and especially as a Campbell parent concerned with providing a better community for our children, I feel we should have answers for the following questions:

1) Since Sargeant Wallace feels this towing away of cars is somewhat illegal, why does the Campbell Police Department allow a vulture operation from San Jose to harrass our citizens?

2) Does the Campbell Police Department realize that perhaps this could be why some of our college students are rebellious today? I am sure many college students had the same experience and $32.50 is a lot of money for a college kid to come up with.

3) Don't our community leaders feel that this out of town vulture organization is overcharging our citizens for pirating their transportation? Or is the Campbell Police Department allowing Cal Towing to charge us a fine for what in their judgment is illegal parking?

4) Does this fathom "Merchant's Association" realize that this type of community public relations is very negative and could be reflected by a drop in sales at their shopping plaza.

I've lived in the Campbell area for almost seven years and have never complained in the past, but somehow since I do love this fine city, I feel it my duty to point out this injustice.

Sincerely,
P. J. Sullivan

West Valley Sports

BASEBALL

Rain halted action for the West Valley College baseballers last week. The Vikings have not played since their American River Tournament championship performance of two weekends ago.

Valley will return to the diamond Thursday when they battle Cabrillo in a make-up game due to a March 3 postponement. The Seahawks have already defeated WVC once this season with a 10-7 decision.

The Vikes will count heavily on the batting performances of Roy Meisner (.360), Dan Wright (.409), both products of Los Gatos High School; Lew Gasper (.286), Camden grad; and Greg Ojeda (.448), Blackford.

BASKETBALL

Joe Gallagher, Steve Gera, and Byron Woodhead, who combined for 643 of West Valley's 1294 points in league action, garnered All-Camino Norte Conference spots as they led the WVC cagers to a 1970 third place standing.

Valley ended the season with an overwhelming 115-65 win over Skyline en route to a 9-5 CNC mark and a 15-13 season finish. The Vikings outscored opponents 2418-2249 on the year and 1294-1135 in the conference.

TRACK

After running second to Contra Costa at the Camino Norte Conference relays last weekend, the Valley tracksters prepare to open their league cinder season Friday against Santa Rosa.

Santa Rosa was fifth at Saturday's relays.

Contra Costa tallied 113 points to garner the first place trophy at the annual event. However, WVC was a close second at 103 followed by DeAnza 82, Marin 60, SR 55, and Solano 25.

GOLF

West Valley College golfers dropped three decisions in action last week.

Valley was outclassed by Menlo 38-16, Santa Rosa 35-19, and Cabrillo 29-12 in experiencing probably their worst week ever on the fairways.

TENNIS

Holding down a 1-1 Camino Norte Conference record, the WVC racqueteers will be out for win number two when they play host to Contra Costa on the San Jose State courts Friday.

The Vikes rallied for their first 1970 win last Friday as they outclassed Solano 6-3.

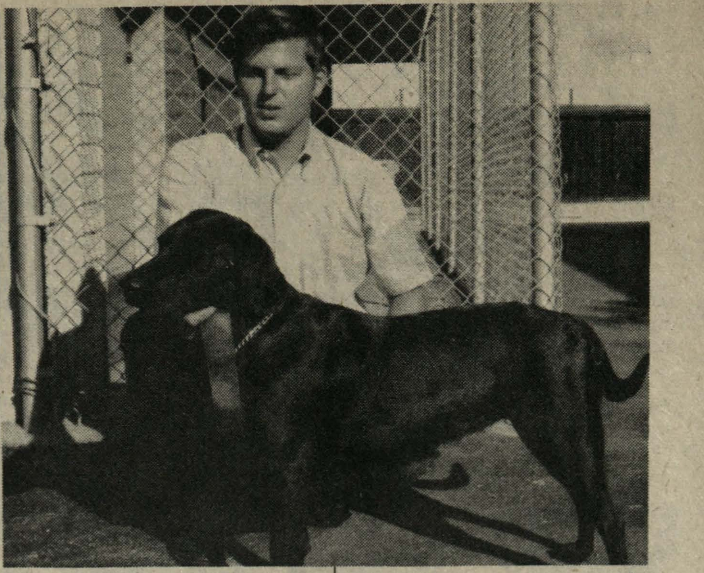
Ron Denevi was a winner in the number one position as Jim Pruett, Rod Wight, Lee Knopf, and Bill Geurnsey each followed with individual victories. Denevi and Wight combined for a win in the first doubles.

In their opening match of the year, Valley was edged by Marin 5-4 at the SJS courts.

SWIMMING

The College swimmers will have one more tune-up in non-league action before unveiling the 1970 Camino Norte Conference season on March 20 in Kentfield against the College of Marin. The Vikings will host Cabrillo Saturday at 11 a.m. at the Saratoga pool.

Modesto Junior College fell to the WVC tankers in competition last Saturday. Greg Diel sparked the weary Vikings with first places in the one and three meter diving events.



PROUD LADY--Tom Mikulin of the City Engineering Dept. holds a qualifying ribbon earned by his Labrador Retriever, "Holly" in Open Obedience competition at a San Mateo trial last Sunday. Although Tom acquired Holly just a year ago, she has already earned the title "Companion Dog" and Sunday marked her second "leg" on her Companion Dog Excellent title.

Get rid of your hang-ups.
Get a dryer.
Wet wash is a hang-up. In more ways than one. It's no fun to pin and unpin 10,000 clothespins a year. It's no fun to tote a couple of thousand pounds of wash 40 miles to and from the clothesline. And a dryer will reduce the need for ironing. Get a dryer. PG and E

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

Because my home is in Gilroy, the Garlic Capital of the World, and because my cousin, Joseph Gubser, Jr., is the world's largest grower and shipper of the zesty seasoning which is descended from the lily family, I have had a lot of good natured fun poked at me over the years.

Though I have nothing to do with the garlic industry, I still find that I am repeatedly referred to as the garlic grower from Gilroy. One speaker at a rally for one of my political opponents once referred to me as a "garlic-growing, back-slapping, baby-kissing politician from Gilroy", which prompted one editorial writer to say, "Shame on you, Charlie, for kissing babies with garlic on your breath".

But now a noteworthy event has turned the tables so that mine will be the last laugh. A University of California scientist, in laboratory tests, has conclusively shown that garlic completely wiped out five species of mosquitoes including the tough pasture mosquitoes of the San Joaquin Valley, Aedes nigromaculis.

Dr. Eldon L. Reeves, of the University's Division of Biological Control, and graduate student S. V. Amonkar, decided to investigate garlic because its odor smelled like certain algae which showed the possibility of biologically controlling mosquitoes. The laboratory results of exposing mosquitoes (larvae) to small doses of garlic extract were so convincing, says Dr. Reeves, that the popular Italian bulb which has enhanced and improved so many steaks and salads in backyard barbecues, may well become the source of a new and potent larvicide to control mosquitoes.

Said Dr. Reeves: "Garlic was used in ancient India and China as a spice and folk medicine. Garlic is known to be useful in counteracting worms, protozoa, bacteria, ... and urinary problems. Its active ingredient, allicin, has also been shown to be broadly active against various human diseases. Dehydrated garlic has also been found to be active against certain causes of food poisoning,....".

Thus, the odiferous garlic bulb which is known botanically as allium satium, not only has food, medicinal and therapeutic value, but is now an important potential pesticide which could be produced in underdeveloped countries for use against mosquitoes and possibly other insects.

It may well be that one of my home town's most important industries which has provoked so much amusement over the years, will wind up saving millions of lives in underdeveloped and mosquito infested countries.

Now, thanks to the University of California, I shall hold my head a little higher. In the future, when I am needled about the strong scent of the breezes blowing from the southern part of my district, I shall have the satisfaction of knowing that my home town is helping mankind. In addition, as the Santa Clara County Farm advisor has suggested, we Gilroyans will have fewer mosquito bites than the rest of the 10th Congressional District.

Police book child molester rape suspects

Campbell police last week were instrumental in apprehending two men who in the past few weeks have been involved with child molesting and rape cases.

Don Arthur Wells, 20, 19 N. Second St., was booked on cases of child molesting and sex perversion, as the suspect in at least two recent child molesting cases in the Rincon Park - Campbell Elementary School district. He was arrested after two of the boys involved recognized him, and called the police.

Edward George, 854 Camden Ave. has also been placed in custody on charges of rape or attempted rape involving at least three Campbell women.

Other police activity during the week included investigation of a robbery at 1721 Bucknall Ave. on March 8. John P. Crass reported the theft of a Smith-Wesson .38 gun, a 33 mm camera, and jewelry, all valued at $875.

A mechanic without his tools is lost indeed, and Lionel Walden, 1103 W. Latimer, is lost without his tools, valued at $1,536. The uninsured items were lifted from the bed of a truck parked in front of the Latimer address.

The U-Save Rockery office, 64 N. Harrison Ave., was broken into over the weekend and three antique pendulum-type clocks valued from $20 to $125 were taken from the establishment.

"Farmer Jones" opens new place in Campbell

To those of our readers who have been puzzled by the "teaser" ads that have been running in this paper for the past month for "Farmer Jones", here's news. "Farmer Jones" is here. It's a very nice little food store located in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center next to the Plaza II Theater.

Specializing in typical American "back on the farm" types of food, they feature such basics as chicken, beef, ribs, hot dogs and a variety of other foods including pastries. Foods will be prepared for "take out" in their own unique packages, or you may lunch or dine in their attractive "farm house". Service starts as early as 6 a.m.

"Farmer Jones" is a relatively new franchise foods operation developed by William Lombard, whose background includes a lifetime as chef, dietician and restaurant manager. Owners and operators of the Campbell store are Paul Azama and Herb Benkman, both of San Francisco. Both Azama and Benkman plan to move to Campbell with their families as soon as possible.

New Books at the CAMPBELL LIBRARY

BOOK REVIEWS

THE BEST OF FAMILIES, by Ellin Berlin (FICTION)
This is the lyrical and gentle story of the four Cameron daughters, growing up, marrying and living out their different lives in the New York and Southampton of the early 20th century. Nell, the youngest, narrates this novel, observing her sisters, their men and the other members of her family and the Four Hundred as they move about her in the intricacies of life in fashionable society. Gliding through a romantic world of wealth and comfort, Nell is witness to the happy marriages, painful decisions, which are all wistful when viewed in later years. Ellin Berlin is the wife of Irving Berlin.

HOUSE OF GOLD, by Elizabeth Cullinan (FICTION)
House of Gold is the story of Julia Devlin who has taken the Church as her inspiration and created a world so reasuring to her family that no one of them is ever able to move beyond its sphere of influence. Though the shabby house they grew up in stands on a shabby street beside railroad tracks, the Devlins believe themselves to be privileged and their traditions sacred, and privilege and sacredness are what they look for in life. Its careful buildup of detail and the portrayal of opposing elements in the life of a family make a moving and compelling story. House of Gold is winner of the Houghton Mifflin library fellowship award.

MR. SERMON, by R. F. Delderfield (FICTION)
The hero of Mr. Sermon is a middle-aged English school teacher, settled in his ways, a little stuffy, comfortably resigned to a career in a second-rate school and to a placid and unexciting marriage. One bright spring day, Mr. Sermon breaks out of his shell and sets out to wander over England, tasting the long repressed joys of freedom. His adventures, encounters and loves lead him to the discovery of his own strength as a man and provide the reader with a wonderfully engaging story, richly peopled and compellingly readable, int he grand Delderfield tradition.

THE TWENTY-FIRST CENTURY, by Fred Warshofsky. (610.01)
The control of Life, the second volume based on the award-winning CBS television series The 21st Century, forecasts a new era in which man may possess the awesome power of directing his own evolution. Fred Warshofsky begins with today's efforts to retrace and duplicate in the laboratory the steps by which life originated on earth. With well-researched text and informative illustrations, the author presents such topics as: the new medical specialty of fetology; the search for safe and effective contraceptive methods; attempts to overcome the rejection of organ transplants; the bold research on the human mind.

HATHA YOGA, by Eva Ruchpaul. (613.7)
Hatha Yoga is a gift from the ancient culture of India to a modern world greatly in need of its teachings. As twentieth-century pressures and anxieties mount, Westerners are turning in ever greater numbers toward this miraculously revitalizing system of physical culture that has shown such an extraordinary ability to ease the tensions and strains of modern life, promote mental equilibrium - and even delay aging. Each posture is explained through words and photographs and its aims and function are made clear.

HERBS TO GROW INDOORS: FOR FLAVOR, FOR FRAGRANCE, FOR FUN, by Adelma Simmons. (635.7)
This is the first book on herbs to tell specifically which ones to grow in the house and how to be successful with them under average home conditions. For this author, herbs are more than a hobby; they are a way of life. She suggests ideas where to place and group plants in the house. She gives the basic culture of herbs. In the flavor section she describes twenty-five of the most popular culinary herbs. She also describes Herbs that make a party. Mrs. Simmons is a natural cook, in fact she does more than cook, she creates.

Juvenile hall has second Christmas

An unfortunate incident for one San Jose lad has brought a second Christmas to the boys and girls of Santa Clara County's Juvenile Hall.

A friend of Mrs. Eleanor Kinsman's son was required to spend some time at the hall. After his release, the boy reported a lack of recreational items for the day rooms.

Mrs. Kinsman, an employee of American Micro-Systems, Inc., suggested to the company's recreation council that they donate a ping pong table and games to the facility. The recreation council agreed and made an initial donation of $50 worth of games and the table. The council hopes to make future donations, according to treasurer Jim Karas, and has started a company-wide penny drive to that end.

Don Shaffer, assistant superintendent of Juvenile Hall, who accepted the gifts, said they were badly needed. He explained that although the county appropriates several thousand dollars for games and other equipment every year, the ten thousand youngsters who pass thorugh Juvenile Hall yearly quickly exhaust and wear out the supply.

Girl Scouts

NEIGHBORHOOD 15

One might think after seeing all the little girls in brown and green toting large cookie boxes around the neighborhood, that selling cookies is the only thing the Girl Scouts and Brownies have been doing lately. Not so. They've been very busy going places, doing special things and with the same vigor with which they sell cookies!

Troop 953

Troop 953, Junior Scouts of Forrest Hill School, had a great day at Vasona Park recently, hiking and having a cook-out. The Capri Juniors, Troop 420, had an overnight in the Palo Alto Scout House to simulate a camp-out before the real thing this Spring.

Troop 567

The active Cadettes of Troop 567 and the San Tomas Juniors shared in a Scouts Own bridging event. Troop 371, Capri Juniors, were the guests of the Cadettes at a Valentine Party, complete with fancy decorations and good food. Brownie Scouts of Troop 1034, Capri School, visited their sister troop, #371, during a meeting to see just what they might expect when reaching the Junior level.

"Going Places"

Fifteen Bucknall Brownies, Troop 467, took a field trip to the Foothill Planetarium last Friday and the Brownies from Troop 483, Capri School, toured the Leland Stanford Junior Museum.

Another group of Bucknall Brownies, Troop 609, plan a tour through the Eggo Potato Chip factory on March 12.

This must be the season for "going around in circles". Bumps and bruises were felt here and there as all three troops from San Tomas School and their leaders joined in the Springtime fun of roller skating. Two Junior troops, 211 and 178 of Hazelwood School, also took to their skates this past week, at different times. Approximately 84 Scouts, their leaders and a few friends attended.

Troop 211

Who says toymakers are only for the Christmas season? Two troops of Junior Scouts are involved making toys now. The girls of Troop 211 are making bean bag toys to be given to the "Friends Outside" organization and those of Troop 371 are making visual aid type toys for the McKinnon School for Retarded Children. The girls receive a badge for their efforts, but the children who receive the toys get much, much more.

Coming Attraction

A special "Girl Scouts in Action" event is taking place right now at Westgate. The event runs April 9-14 in the mall area, and displays can be seen between 4 and 9 weekdays and 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Saturday. Troops of local Girl Scouts are involved in this event to help the public be a little more aware of what Scouts are doing. Stop and see the crafts, displays on Ecology and Conservation, puppet shows, dances and in general—the fun girls are having in the Scouting program.

State urges filing for scholarships

California State Scholarship and Loan Commission reminds high school seniors that the postmark deadline date for the filing of College Opportunity Grant applications is March 15, 1970.

College Opportunity Grants are for disadvantaged students who plan to initiate their college education primarily at a public community college.

One thousand new grants are to be awarded to students who generally, though not exclusively, are minority and come from low income families and who are not necessarily able to obtain scholarships by the use of conventional selection methods. Such students who believe they are in need of financial assistance may secure application forms from their high school or the Commission offices in Sacramento.
